

In September of 2013, the Upper Providence Township Police Department swore in Chief Mark A. Toomey as their new Chief of Police. Under his leadership, the department has begun to transition into a new era. Members of the community will notice that the officers of Upper Providence have undergone a uniform change, as well as an update to the department patch. The police vehicles will also take on a new look in the coming months with new paint schemes. The Police Department has also created a Facebook page to inform the community about important activities and news.
